THE INNER LIFE.

'Tis the hour of midnight lonely,
Very lonely, very drear;
All things round me seem too silent
E'en for noise of falling tear,
Falling on the Past's dark bier.

'Tis the hour best fit for musing,
Musing on the days gone by,
When the heart re-tells its story,
Having time and place to sigh,
Sigh for hopes long in the sky.

'Twere not well to give heart-memories,
Never dear though sad recall,
Nor to let e'en life's deep sorrows
In forgetfulness to fall:
From the dead ne'er lift the pall.

For, though heart-ache at recounting
Joy and hope and love e'er gone,
Sicken as it sees life's pleasures
Change to sorrows all anon,
Sorrows coming thickly on;

Yet the soul thus learns submission,
Being low, to look above,
And the heart, though torn and bleeding,
Learns to bear e'en severed love,
Gentle-trusting as the dove.

Life is double, outward, inward,
Seen and hidden from the light;
'Tis a scroll of varied pictures,
Colored dark and colored bright,
Rolled up partly out of sight.

One's the life as shown to others,
This, though past, oft seems the whole,
For, at outward things e'er looking,
We forgot the life of soul,
Like as we forgot life's goal.

But, at silent hour of midnight,
When ourselves alone we see,
When all noise is turned to stillness,
Hushed is every sound of glee,
Sound of anguish, pleasure's fee.

When the soul, with eye turned inward,
Gazeth on its secret life,
Hope and joy, despair and sorrow,
Reason calm and passion rife,
Good and bad in constant strife,

Memory then her conjuring office
Fills by calling up the past;
Budding hopes which in their spring time
Chilling frosts had come to blast,
Lest, if full blown, they should last.

Parted love, that tore heart-tendrils,
Severed from another heart,
That restrained the parted heart-strings,
Leaving ours of each but part,
Healed up now but bearing mark.

Scenes of childhood's joyous life-spring,
Form's of life's bright summer time,
Pictures of the soul that only
Spirit-language can define,
Pass in gay or solemn line.

And there's music, soft-toned music,
Played on chords of years gone by,
Causing tears of gust le sadness,
Tears which, though they fill the eye,
Help to see beyond the sky.

Thus the soul in secret growth,
While with mortal it must stay;
Up in Heaven 'twill grow forever,
Seen and seeing by the ray
Of the uncertain day

THE WIFE CURER.

BY B. P. SHILLABER.

"Been up the country?" I queried, as I met my friend Burner in the street, a few days since. I hadn't seen him for some time, and he looked sunburnt and rough, as if he had been exposed to the country sun. He informed me that he had, and that he had been to visit Tom Somers, a mutual friend of ours, who had moved away from town many years before. After inquiries concerning his visit, and his enjoyment during the warm months, conversation reverted to our friend.

"I never was more surprised in my life," said Burner, "than I was to see him in the depot at Rensshead. I had quite forgotten that he was located there."

I informed him that I had also forgotten it, though I believed his wife's relatives were living there.

"His wife's—yes, yes," continued Burner, "singular woman that; did you know her?"

"Yes," I replied; "she is a little, bustling, talkative thing; full of fun and chat, and making her house merry by the music of her voice. Nice little woman."

Burner looked at me a moment, and burst into a laugh, to my great wonderment. I requested him in a tone of chagrin, to inform me what the deuce he was laughing at.

"Talkative," said he, when he could checkrein his cachinatory colt, "I found her anything but that, I tell you. I never knew the lady when she lived in town, but a more taciturn body I never saw than I found her."

"Indeed!" I remarked, "then there must have been a change, truly."

"I met Somers in the depot," continued Burner, "and he was very glad to see me, inquiring after his old friends, and you with the rest. Through all his joy, however, I saw that there was a vein of sadness; and when I alluded to his family he appeared embarrassed, and disposed to change the subject. I had no object in view in visiting Ramshead, other than change of scene, and did not intend to remain there but a day or two; but meeting Somers led me to think that it would not be a bad thing to tarry there awhile, seeing that there was a beautiful pond of water in the vicinity, as I had seen from the cars as I came along, and a deep wood, denoting game. Somers used to be great on those things you know. I hinted at our former sporting practices, and mentioned my half resolution to stay; but instead of manifesting any interest in the subject, he sighed deeply, and replied:

"Burner, I havn't taken a pole in hand, nor put a gun to my shoulder, for five long years, and I never shall again."

I looked at him with astonishment, but I knew that he was sincere. I fancied that I saw a tear in his intelligant eye, my heart drew stronger towards him than ever. I then quite resolved to stay, and ordered the porter of the hotel to carry my baggage—my valise and gun—up to the house, which was close by. My rod-cane I carried in my hand. Taking Somers on my arm, we followed the porter, and a few minutes later found us seated in my room with a little rummer of claret negus—an excellent lubricator for a dusty day.

"Well, how are you prospering, Somers?" I asked, wishing to penetrate, if possible, the mystery that enshrouded him, deeming that it might be a business difficulty in which he was involved.

"Doing capitally," he replied, "haven't lost a dollar since I came here. People have nicknamed me 'Lucky Tom.' How wrongly people judge in measuring men."

"What do you mean by that?" said I, as I saw the cloud creep over his face, as you have, while standing on the mountains, seen a shadow flitting across the meadow.

"I mean," said he, "that in measuring us they take but one feature into the account, and upon that base a hypothesis of happiness, or of luck, as the case may be."

"Are you not happy?" I asked, in a tone calculated to win his confidence.

"I am far from it," he replied, "indeed, a more miserable man is not to be found in these parts."

"In what regard?"

"My wife is dumb," he almost sobbed in answer to my question.

"Dumb!" I repeated; and thinking to rally him, said in a jocular manner, "Well, that is a very singular thing to be sad for; I know many husbands who would be too happy to have such a calamity happen to them. Burns says, 'An auld wife's tongue's a feckless matter; and there is no contention in a house where a perpetual silence is the bond of unity."

I saw that he was hurt, and hastened to remedy the evil I had done. Taking him by the hand, I said:

"Tom, I assure you I would not wound your feelings willingly. I am no less your friend than I ever was, and no less worthy your confidence. Now, I wish you to tell me the cause of your trouble, that I may share it with you, or possibly alleviate it."

He hesitated a few moments, and then said with considerable emotion:

"Well, Burner, old friendship is stirring up within me, and I shall do at its prompting that which I thought nothing could wring from me. You remember how happy I was. There was not a man in the world who had more friends, true friends, than I had. My home was a happy one—my wife was pleasant, my children handsome and intelligent. You never saw my wife, friend Burner?"

My name, in the connection, sounded like an imprecation upon his wife, and the Burner a wrathful expletive—"burn her." Somers continued:—

"When we moved up here things went on in pretty much the same pleasant way, until there came to the village a lady whom I had formerly kown, and about whom and myself there had been a little gossip in old days. Our acquaintance was renewed, and I visited her several times; made no concealment of my intimacy with her, and invited my wife to accompany me, but she declined. She wished to make no new acquaintances, she said. There was a frequent visitor at my house—a relative of my wife's—who poisoned her ears with suspicions that it was not right between May Brennon and myself. She repeated the old gossip, with additions, and spoke of my visits to Miss Brennon, and hinted at criminality, as that nasty-minded class always will, who, having small virtues of their own and depraved fancies, conjure up impure conceits regarding their neighbors imputing lasciviousness and wrong where the strictest purity might not see occasion to blush. I was returning home one summer evening, on foot, having spent the day in business at a town a few miles from this, when, by a strange chance, a short distance from town, I met Miss Brennon. It was pure accident that brought us together, and she turned back with me, taking my arm. We walked slowly, as the weather was warm, and stopped a moment on the rustic bridge yonder, to look down into the stream, and say a few pleasant words about old times. I saw some one pass us as we stood there, but was indifferent as to whom it might be, and bidding my companion good-bye I went home as happy as a lord, in anticipation of seeing the ones there that I loved so well. I met with a cold reception. My bane was sitting with my wife in counsel, and I read judgment on the face that had too many times lately turned unkindness on me.

"So you've come, Mr. Hypocrite, have you!" was the first salutation.

"Certainly, my dear, I have come," I replied—"though I can scarcely see reason for the application of that name to me."

"You cannot! you who have just left that vile creature, on whose account and in whose company you have all day been absent from your home. You cannot!"

"I have been away all day on business," said I, as calmly as Socrates, "I was returning, and encountered Miss Brennon. We walked together a little way, and then I left her for my pleasant home, and certainly did not expect such a cold reception."

"You did not," said she, sneeringly, "but you are found out, sir. You stood upon the bridge with your arm around the strumpet's waist, and kissed her!"

I felt aroused at this. I can bear any attack upon myself, but the reflection upon Miss Brennon was too much for me who knew her pure character and worth.

"It is a falsehood!" I shouted, "and your informant is a malicious and malignant falsifier."

The relative gathered herself up to go, but before she went I gave her a lesson on lying and tale-bearing that she has not forgotten yet. She has never crossed my door since. As soon as she was gone, I turned to my wife and said:—

"As for you, madam, if you cannot make a better use of your tongue, you had better never speak again."

I was heated, in a passion, and scarcely knew what I said, but the unkind words went into her soul. I left the house, and did not return for a long time. I found her calmly and undisturbedly sitting where I had left her, but she spoke not. She arose and performed such duties as were required of her; but she did not speak.—In vain I addressed her, but she made no reply. I grew alarmed. I begged her to speak to me, but not one word would she deign me. It has continued thus ever since. Not one word has she uttered to me or any one. My home is dismal as a tomb, or I would have invited you to stay there."

He ceased his story, and I told him how much interested I had been in it. "But," said I, "have you tried no remedy to cure this disease, for disease it must be?". He told me that he had not. "Then," said I, "take me home with you, and if I don't cure her, strike the spurs from my heel as an unworthy knight."

I went home with the poor fellow, and found things pretty much as he had represented. I was introduced to the mistress of the mansion, who received me with a profound bow.

"A delightful home, madam, this of yours," said I, glancing admiringly out of the window. I looked towards her as though expecting a reply. She merely nodded her head.

"Are there many such in this vicinity among the hills?" I persisted, looking her in the face.

She colored as though she were confused. I found, subsequently, that I was the first stranger that he had dared to take home for several years. I saw by her organism that she was not naturally a bad woman, and divined at once that she had vowed perpetual silence at the unkind words of her husband, and that it only needed a single word to break the spell that rested upon her.

I continued my engineering, making all manner of domestic inquiries regarding the children, of whom she appeared very fond, but could not elicit a word from her. I next alluded to her husband and our old acquaintance, and in the course of my remarks made some reflections in a playful way upon the slight blemish in one of his eyes—the only fault in his really handsome face. I saw a feeling like chagrin flit across her brow, and a moment after, when I praised him, a pleased expression effaced the cloud.

"Aha!" said I to myself, "here are pride and affection, at any rate; these springs have not dried up and I think that language may yet be unsealed."

A day passed, but nothing transpired save manœuvres, I have never tried so hard to make myself attractive as on this occasion, and felt that I had succeeded when on the second morning she greeted me with a smile, and extended her hand to me as I came from my chamber. I chatted and rattled on about the town and its splendors, told of new improvements, changing fashions, crinoline and lovely bonnets, all of which was listened to with evident interest.—Still she wouldn't speak, confound it! I trembled for my spurs. Something must be done.

"Mrs. Somers," said I very suddenly, "will you allow me to look at the palm of your hand?"

She extended her hand very readily, and I gazed upon it as though I were a wizard engaged in some trick of necromancy, involving the fate of the household. Looking in her face, I relinquished her hand and sighed deeply. She appeared surprised, and seemed as if expecting me to say something.

"You may well be surprised at my conduct," I said, "but your surprise would be overwhelming could I dare tell you the motive of it. I cannot do this without compromising others. I may say, however, that in your hand I discern a power that may be employed for immense good. There are lines in it that meet and diverge, and come near together again without meeting. There is a mystery!" I looked at the hand again, rubbed my forehead as though I were much perplexed, and went out abruptly. I saw her face depicted in the glass as I passed out, and it bore the expression of great wonder.

"How far is it to the top of Rattlesnake Hill, Somers?" I asked at dinner time, as we sat at table.

"About fifteen miles; why?" he replied.

"Because I am going here to-night. I must be there at precisely midnight. I am going to gather a charm from the old Rattler's cave, through which I hope to obtain a treasure that will compensate for all trouble and danger."

'You cannot go,' said he anxiously, 'the way is one of peril. It is full of ravines and pitfalls, and the serpents are very numerous."

I saw that his wife shared in his uneasiness, and her looks said "don't go!" plainer than words could speak.

"So much the better for my purpose," said I "were it not attended with danger, that which I seek would be valueless. I shall go; and more than this, I shall walk."

Somers and his wife changed looks, which I interpreted to mean, "Well, isn't he a queer one?" and after a few moments at table I left the house telling Somers that I should be back by the morning. I accordingly struck out stoutly for Rattlesnake Hill, accompanied by his utter blessing and his wife's inarticulate bension; but when I reached the first brook, I made my cane into a jointed fishing rod, and indulged till sundown in the finest sport. The trout never bit with more avidity; and having caught a goodly string, I carried them to a farm-house not far away, and had them cooked for my supper. Late in the evening I returned to my friend Somer's, and enjoyed a fine night's rest upon his haymow. At daylight I aroused the family by knocking at the door, but I greeted them with a simple shake of the hand, gazing abstractedly at Mrs. Somers. She looked troubled.

"Somers," said I "please leave me a moment with your wife. It is a matter that you may sometime know, but not at present. Have you not heard of my wonderful developements as a seer?"

He said he had not, but, without explaining, I pushed him out and closed the door I knew that he would listen however.

"Mrs. Somer's," said I, "my mysterious movements are fast growing to a climax. I last night plucked a dragon's tongue from the mouth of the rattlesnake's den; I laughed with the midnight echoes, and stood face to face with the darkness, in order to gain what I sought.—Your hand, please; thank you. The lines are brought nearer together, and it needs but one word of yours, in response to an incantation that I shall utter, to make my mystic charm complete. You must say Yes, or all is as naught."

I looked wildly as I spoke, and I saw that she was, as it were, spell-bound.

"And this is my incantation," I continued, "you swear that you hate Tim Somers."

"No!" she almost shrieked.

Poor Tim had been listening. Fearing harm to his wife from my supposed lunacy, and hearing the question I had put in response, he rushed in frantic with joy, clasped her in his arms, kissed her over and over again, and jumped about the room with the wildness of a madman. She did not seem to comprehend what she had done for an instant, but when she remembered that she had spoken, and divined the meaning of my cabalistic efforts, she came near fainting with her emotion.

"Thank God! the spell is broken!" she said, "the hideous spell that has bound me to silence and sorrow so long."

"The mystical word having been spoken," said I, "that brought the diverging lines together, I am free to tell what I sought at midnight on Rattlesnake Hill."

"What was it?" they both asked at once.

"A woman's tongue!" I replied, "and since I have found it, never allow any trifling cause to silence it again."

My theory was correct with regard to her not speaking. She had vowed perpetual silence, and had kept her vow until brought to utter one word, by stratagem, which had unsealed her tongue again. The children were delighted, and ran all around the neighborhood telling every body that their mother could talk, and every body rushed in to ascertain what it meant. For a time it seemed as though anarchy and confusion had become instaled on Tim Somer's hearthstone, to make up the silence that had so long brooded there; but he bore it all good humoredly. I left them, a week afterwards, the happiest couple you ever saw, and my midnight excursion to Rattlesnake Hill was frequently alluded to.

"Did you really go there!" Mrs. Somers asked the morning before I came away.

"No! said I, imitating her emphatic accent of the same monosyllable in reply to my incantation, and we had a grand laugh about it; Tim Somers swearing that my seership was the best ever known, and my magic had wrought a happier effect than that of all the fairies he had ever seen exhibited at the museum.

"Good-bye," said Burner, as he finished his story, and he left me well satisfied with the manner in which he spent his vacation.—Boston Saturday Evening Gazette.

THE PRESS.

That truly eloquent clergyman, Rev. Dr. Fuller, of that city, in a recent address at a religious anniversary in New York, paid the following tribute to "the press."

"Who can measure the power of the press? An ounce of lead moulded into a bullet, and put into a Minnie rifle, with a few grains of powder beneath it, will go two miles and do its errand in an efficient manner, if it encounter no obstacles. But that ounce of lead made into types and put into one of Hoe's lightning printing presses, will go thousands of miles and do its errand effectively, not on man merely, but on millions, and that though oceans, rivers and mountains may intervene. A steam printing press! Did you ever go down in one of the spacious vaults beneath your sidewalks here and watch the monsters? Why, my friends, I feel something like awe in looking at them. I feel like taking my hat off at the huge machine. (Laughter.) It seems to me to be a living thing—one of Ezekiel's living creatures with "the hand of a man and the sound of many waters, and the living eye in the wheel."

"He asks no nourishment knows no weariness. How it strips itself to its work and toils on with a strength that mocks to scorn the might of the giant, and with a clamor as if it would shriver to pieces every substance in his grasp. And yet, with a delicacy and precision unattainable by human muscles, it receives a fabric so delicate that a rude touch would rend it, and imprints upon it in the twinkling of an eye that which it costs hours to compose. It flings off sheet after sheet to entertain, instruct, regenerate and bless the earth. None of us have yet begun to begin to appreciate the influence of the press as an agent for the diffusion of knowledge, whether it be in volumes, pamphlets, or, above all, through the daily newspaper, the moral institution which has revolutionized not only the literary, but the commercial and political world. If you have read the constitution, you will remember that there are only two estates in Congress, the Senate and House of Representatives; but a third estate has sprung up, occupying during the session of Congress a seat higher than that occupied by the Senators and Representatives themselves, and which continues in Session long after Congress adjourned, everywhere and at all times. It is composed of the representatives of the press."

LOVE.

How beautiful is love in its hours of purity. How its sweet smiles soothes and charms our darkest hours of adversity. How it thrills the heart and sends the warm blood bounding along its arteries, with emotions too deep for utterance, untold and indescribable.

Love, sweet love! Thy power is indisputable. Thou hast conquered the most stubborn hearts, and caused crowned and sceptered heads to kneel and sue for thy coveted favor.

Sweet entrances of our being! under thy benign and holy influences, life is a continued joy, perfect blessing.

Thou art a cherished dream, in which we fondly and oft-times vainly desire to exist forever; for we fear lest our beautiful dream be suddenly awaked to a fearful reality, a life shorn and destitute of thy presence.

Love, beautiful love! Thy song is heard alike in the lowly cottage and the kingly palace. Thou art with the humble peasant as he goes forth to his morning employment, whispering words of peace and hope, causing him to work with increased vigor, inspired by the fond tho't that it is the loved ones beneath the lowly roof for whom he is toiling, and he blesses God for giving him those dear objects to live and labor for. Thou enterest the halls of the rich and the mighty; thy influence is felt, and the unfeeling man is touched. The low, sad voice of pity, before repulsed and driven away, is now listened to.

The widow and the orphans, the heart-stricken and destitute have occasion to bless the secret and invisible power that has opened the heart and hand of the rich and powerful, before insensible to the cry of distress or the tale of woe.

TOMATO WINE.—The following recipe for making an excellent article of tomato wine, is communicated to an agricultural paper by a gentleman who tried it successfully last season:—

"To a bushel of sound, ripe tomatoes cut, add four gallons of water. Let the mixture stand in an open tub three days, stirring two or three times each day; then strain through a sieve.—To each gallon of the clear liquid add three pounds of brown sugar, stir until the sugar is thoroughly dissolved, after which it is not to be disturbed for three days, except to take off the scum as it rises. Then strain the liquor through muslin or muslin bags, and put it in a cask filled to the top of the bung hole. There must be a surplus of liquor to re-place what fermentation throws off, as the cask is to be kept full. As soon as fermentation becomes feeble, (which is usually at the end of a week from the time the cask is filled,) dissolve half an ounce best isinglass in a portion of the liquor, put it in the cask and bung tightly. Half an ounce of isinglass is sufficient for ten gallons. Place the cask in the cellar, with the spigot in, so that the wine can be drawn off for bottling, without disturbing the sediment. The proper time for bottling is the following May. The wine is good when a year old, but continues to improve for several years. Two and a half bushels of tomatoes will make ten gallons of wine.

☞ Lorenzo Dow is still remembered by some of the old fogies as one of the most eccentric men that ever lived. On one occasion he took the liberty, while preaching, to denounce a rich man in the community, recently deceased The result was an arrest, a trial for slander and an imprisonment in the county jail. After Lorenzo got out of "limbo" he announced that in spite of his (in his opinion) unjust punishment, he should preach at a given time, a sermon on "another rich man. The populaco was greatly excited, and a crowded house greeted his appearance. With great solemnity he opaned the Bible, and read, "And there was a rich man who died and went and went to ——;" then stopping short, and seeming to be suddenly impressed, he continued: "Brethren, I shall not mention the place this rich man went to, fearing he has some relatives in this congregation who will sue me for defamation of character."

INCONCEIVABILITY OF THE NATIONAL DEBT OF GREAT BRITAIN.—The London Times observes: "OUR national debt is the nearest approach to the infinite yet achieved by man. So little can we grasp it, and so much do we class it with other eternities and other infinities, that, in order to be practical, we take bits of it, and play in our fancy with an odd ten million or so.—What know we about 1,000,000,000 sterling?—It is like the distance of fixed star, or the bulk of the sun, or the length of a comet's tail, or the velocity of light. House and land, stock and share, mortgage and bill—everything has its ups and downs; but that which changes last is the three per cents. The commercial spirit loves their modest faithful, constant character, their equal mind, their moderation in prosperity their firmness in adversity, their help in the time of need, their open, honest countenance, like the good wine that needs no bush."

IT LEAKS.—A friend, says an exchange, returning from the depot a few mornings since, with a bottle of freshly imported Maine Law, saw a young lady whom he must inevitably join So putting the bottle under his arm, he softly walked along side. "Well," said the young lady, after disposing of health and weather, "what is that bundle under your arm?" from which she discovered a dark fluid dropping.

"Oh, nothing but a coat the tailor has been mending for me."

"Oh, it's a coat, is it? Well, you had better carry it back and get him to sew up ore hole more—it leaks."

☞ A man may have true christian manliness, and yet desire to serve himself; but no man who has true christian manliness would ever serve himself in such a way as to infringe upon the rights, or interfere with the interests of another. True christian manliness leads a man to desire to serve others as well as himself. A man who in everthing he does is open, simple, direct, straightforward, truthful, so that there is concordance between inward thought and inward motive and his outward life, is alone manly.

GRAND HOTEL IN BALTIMORE.—Mr. Thomas Winans, of Baltimore, is about to add to the attraction of that beautiful city, by erecting in its most central locality a hotel, the like of which shall not have been seen even in our hotel excelling country. A correspondent of the New Orleans Picayune says: "Mr. Winans is reputed to be worth from ten to twelve million dollars. The hotel here referred to, if constructed, will be on a grand scale, costing from one million to twelve hundred thousand dollars."

SAYING HER CATECHISM.—A lady observed a little girl apparently lost in the street, accosted her with the question:

"Whose child are you?"

"Child of wrath, ma'am," said the little urchin, dropping a courtesy as if addressing the parson.

The lady resumed and said:—

"Where were you born?"

"Born in sin, ma'am," persevered the diminutive theologian.

☞ A pretty and elegant present has been forwarded to Miss Nightingale by a grateful officer who recovered under kind treatment whilst in the Crimea. It consists of a small repeating watch in a ring, the cylinder of which is made of an Oriental ruby. Its diameter is the fifty-fourth part of an inch, its length the forty-seventh, and its weight the two hundredth part of an ounce.

☞ An old doctor said that people who were prompt in their payments always recover in their sickness, as they were good customers, and physicians could not afford to loose them. A good hint and a sensible doctor.

☞ A country editor, in speaking of a steamboat, says: "She had twelve berths in the lady's cabin." "Oh, life of me," exclaimed an old lady upon reading the above, "what a squalling there must have been."

☞ A good man in affliction, who was asked how he bore his sorrows so well, replied: "It lightens the stroke to draw near to Him who handles the rod.

☞ If women seek distinction in fashionable display, we should at least do them the justice to remember that this is pretty much the only avenue to distinction open to them.

Another Horror.

On Saturday morning last, the steamer Lady Elgin, running on Lake Michigan, was run into by the schooner Augusta, off Waukegan, and sunk in 20 minutes thereafter, in 300 feet of water. There were between 350 and 400 persons on board, among them the Black Yeagers, the Green Yeagers and Rifles, and several fire companies of Milwaukie, who had been on a visit to Chicago. Thus far but 59 persons out of the whole number are known to have been saved. All the rest are supposed to have been drowned. Among the number lost are Col. F. A. Lumsden, of the New Orleans Picayune, his wife, two children and a servant, and Herbert Ingraham, member of Parliament and proprietor of the London Illustrated News, and his son Herbert.

The clerk of the Lady Elgin says that the boat was about ten miles from shore when she was struck. Immediately after the schooner struck the steamer the vessels separated, and the schooner drifted away. At the moment of the collision there was music and dancing going on in the forward cabin. In an instant after the crash all was silent. He passed through the cabins immediately after and the ladies were pale but silent. There was not a cry or a shriek—no sound but the rush of the steam and the surging of the heavy sea. Whether they were not fully aware of their danger, or whether their appalling situation made them speechless he could not tell.

The Washington Monument.

A number of plans have been adopted and tried to raise means to complete the Washington National Monument, but all have fell short of accomplishing that object. First a general collection was taken up, then boxes were placed at the polls in every election district, on election day, for the reception of voluntary contributions. The collections from these sources failing to secure the desired end, contribution boxes were placed in all the post offices throughout the country to receive voluntary contributions. The receipts from this source were encouraging for a time, but the novelty of the enterprise has worn off and the boxes no longer receive even a passing notice. As all benevolent and patriotic movements, the ladies of the land have stepped forward and undertaken to do that which the men could not or would not do. They took charge of the matter of securing a title to the consecrated home of Washington—Mount Vernon—after the male portion of American society had exhausted its energies in unavailing attempts to secure it, and they succeeded; and now that they have undertaken the completion of the National Monument, we feel sure they will be equally successful. We do not know whether a collector has yet been appointed for this section, but when one shall have been announced, we hope to see her request for donations responded to in a patriotically liberal manner. The offer to complete the Monument is as fair and beautiful as the true hearted women who propose it, and is worthy the support and contribution of every man in the land.

☞ The American Agriculturist is conceded on all hands to be the best work of the kind now published in this country. The eminent success of the American Agriculturist, which now counts its 50,000 subscribers, while due in part to the correct policy of the publisher, viz:—to get up the best possible paper without regard to expense, and then to make it widely known by liberal advertising—is an indication of the greatly increased desire on the part of cultivators for information upon the best methods of tilling the soil. The present circulation of the Agriculturist, it may be remarked, is greater than that of the entire agricultural press only a few years ago. When this journal started there were but two or three agricultural papers in existence; the agricultural journals now number full forty. Terms $1,00 per annum, or 6 copies for $5,00. PRESIDENTIAL VOTE IN 1856.—For the benefit of those who may not have at hand, for reference, the vote in this State for President, in 1856, we publish it below:

James Buchanan, Democrat	230,772
J. C. Fremont, Republican	147,963
Millard Fillmore, American	82,202
Whole number of votes	460,937
James Buchanan's majority over all	607

POLITICAL ITEMS.

☞ Douglas has lately made two off-hand and effective speeches in answer to Breckinridge's late effort, one at Baltimore and one at Harrisburg. The following extract we take from a report of his Baltimore speech:—

"Mr. Douglas proceeded at great length to show by the record of Mr. Breckinridge, that the dogma of non-intervention by Congress on the question of slavery in the territories was his, up to the time of his nomination for Vice-President, and it was on this dogma that he was elected in 1856. Mr. Douglas went to Kentucky and addressed the people for three mortal hours on this question of popular sovereignty; he explained it to them just as he had explained it to this assemblage to-night, and Mr. Breckinridge stood by his side applauding him as he progressed, and clapping him on the back for his efforts in behalf of this dogma. [Cheers and laughter.] In September, 1856, Mr. Breckinridge visited Illinois, and spoke first in behalf of this dogma, and he explained it so well that he (Mr. Douglas) could not restrain himself from patting him also upon the back." In the Harrisburg speech, delivered last Friday night, before a very large audience, headed by Governor Packer, he addressed himself chiefly to the tariff question, and complained that the negro question has always prevented Congress acting in the matter. Although the main charge bro't against the judge by the Republicans is that he, more than any other in the country, is responsible for this slavery agitation, and that he has done more than all others, by springing the Nebraska bill upon the country, and disturbing the Missouri Compromise at a moment when the whole country had agreed upon the Clay Compromise as a final settler of the vexed question, to revise sectional feuds and animosity.

A RUMORED POLITICAL BARGAIN.—The Philadelphia Daily Bulletin, of Thursday last, contains the following in relation to a political trade recently effected between some of the political parties in that city:—

"In Philadelphia it is understood in knowing circles that an arrangement was consummated, last night, by which the Bell and Everett party in this city is to be sold out to the Democracy. The leaders of the Bellites, Douglasites, and Breckinridgers held a meeting and perfected the terms of the sale. They are as follows:—The Bell and Everett city ticket is to be supported, both branches of the Democracy dropping their candidates to that end. Mr. Brodhead, the Democratic candidate for Congress in the Second District, is to be slaughtered, and Henry M. Fuller, the Bell and Everett candidate for the same position, is to be supported by the fusionists. In return for all this the Bell and Everetters are to support General Foster for Governor, and also the regular Democratic nominees for Congress in the First, Third, Fourth and Fifth Districts. The Presidential question is to be left open until after the second Tuesday in October.

FUSION IN NEW YORK.—A despatch from New York, dated Sept. 9th, says: "After the adjournment yesterday of the Breckinridge Committee, the Douglas Sub-Committee on the proposed fusion, agreed to accept the proposition of the former as the basis of a fusion, subject to the ratification of the Douglas State Committee. The propositions are ten Breckinridge men on the electoral, and the Lieutenant Governor and Canal Commissioner on the State ticket. The Douglas Sub-Committee finally agreed to the propositions, and recommend the State Committee to ratify their action. The matter now rests between the two Chairmen of the State Committee, and will probably be adjusted as above."

P. S. We learn from the N. Y. Times that the above fusion has been repudiated by the chairman of the Breckinridge committee.

☞ Mr. Breckinridge's friends here from the North and South, says a Washington telegram to the Times, express great dissatisfaction at his dodging the question which Douglas so promptly answered at Norfolk,—that is, what he would do in the event of a State's attempting to secede on the election of Lincoln. The truth is Breckinridge could not answer without driving from him some of his followers in one section or the other of the Union. The Bell and Everett Committee, says the same dispatch, are in receipt of letters to-day from nearly every Southern State giving flattering accounts of their prospects.

☞ The war of the divided Democracy rages as bitterly in California as elsewhere. The State Central Committee, at its late session, broke up in a row, and each faction lays the blame upon the other.

☞ Mr. Breckinridge, in his speech of the 7th of September, said of the Bell and Everetters, "they are gentlemen engaged in ringing bells, with tongues as long and heads as empty as the bells they ring."

☞ The Memphis Inquirer says:—If parties remain on the same footing until November, Mr. Bell's majority in Tennessee cannot fall short of 45,000.

☞ There are forty-seven newspapers in Texas supporting Breckinridge, and not one in favor of Douglas. No man has taken the stump for Douglas.

AGREEABLE INFORMATION FOR PORK-EATERS.—The "Academie des Sciences," of Paris, has just received a communication, which has literally caused the quills upon that fretful porcupine to stand on end with horror. A savant of Wurtemberg, M. Wirchow by name, announces the fearful discovery he has just made, of the existence of a dreadful microscopic animal, the truchina sparatis, in the flesh of hogs, no matter how prepared, whether you call it pork, ham, bacon, sausages or polony. When an individual happens to eat of this animal in abundance he is observed to grow pale and emaciated in a few days afterward, his strength deserts him, and he dies at the end of the sixth week. A post mortem examination shows the muscles of the body to be filled with truchina sparatis, which proves that death must be occasioned by muscular consumption, owing to the attacks of this horrible little monster.

LIBERALITY OF GEN. CASS.—The Detroit Tribune says: "Last spring, when Gen. Cass laid out his farm into lots, in the north-western portion of the city, without solicitation he very generously offered the Congress Street Methodist society sufficient ground on which to erect a church and parsonage on any part of the farm they might select. The trustees being called together, determined to accept the liberal offer of three lots, corner of Cass avenue and George street, making one hundred and fifty feet square, valued at not less than $3,000, on which the trustees will commence the erection, early next spring, of a commodious church, which will cost not less than $3,000, and will be known as the Cass Avenue M. E. Church."

GEN. WALKER SURRENDERED.—The steamer Osceola has arrived at Batabano from Truxillo. The commander of the English man-of-war, Icaries, ordered Walker to surrender the town.—Walker obeyed, and retreated down the lower coast with eighty men. According to last advices, his force was reduced by continued attacks by the enemies of Walker. Walker was severely wounded in the face. Several of his wounded followers at Truxillo were placed aboard the Icaries.

VERMONT ELECTION.—Returns from 143 towns give Fairbanks 14,745 majority; a Republican gain, since last year, of 2,937. Gov. Fairbank's majority will undoubtedly reach 22,000. The Senate is unanimously Republican, while the House thus far stands, Republicans 175, Democrats 17—a Republican gain of six over last year.

PEN AND SCISSORS.

☞ The population of Somerset county is 26,865; in 1850 it was 24,416.

☞ A punster, passing by the shop of Mr. Tidwell, observed that his name would spell As-well without the T.

☞ Twenty-three hundred barrels of oil were received at Erie, in August, from the Pennsylvania oil region.

☞ A friend, visiting Atlantic city, was asked how he spent Sunday. "Well," said he, "among the Sabbath-breakers."

☞ The Boston Traveller says that the crop of apples in Massachusetts will be larger than any they have had for five years.

☞ "The ocean speaks eloquently and forever," says Beecher. "Yes," retorts Prentice, "and there is no use telling it to dry up."

☞ Mr. Gowan, writing from Sebastopol, says that the graves of those who fell in the Crimean war occupy twenty square miles of territory.

☞ In boring an artesian well at Provincetown, a short time ago, clam shells were found one hundred and thirty feet below the surface of the ground.

☞ The London Farmer asks, "where was the largest beet raised in England?" and the Clipper rejoins, "At Fairnsborough, by John C. Heenan."

☞ The New Orleans Delta says the returns of the census, so far as received, justify the expectation that the population of New Orleans will be near 200,000.

☞ Dunham, of the Lock Haven Watchman, advertises his office for sale. An excellent chance is thus afforded some practical printer to procure a good paper.

☞ It is true, as Franklin says, that "the sleeping fox catches no poultry," but it is equally true that poultry asleep upon their roost are generally in very little danger of foxes.

☞ As a general rule, men in society should express only their more cheerful feelings, digesting their evil moods in silence, as some reptiles are made to consume their own smoke.

☞ The total amount of salaries to city officers paid yearly from the Philadelphia treasury is $973,899 60. The police department alone costs $370,000; school teachers' salaries, $336,050.

☞ It is estimated that the reception of the Prince of Wales will cost the Provisional Government of the Canadas no less a sum than $1,000,000, independent of the vast amounts spent by the different towns.

☞ The census takers have discovered a number of antiquated individuals in various parts of the country. Among others, a Deputy Marshal in Cherokee county, Ga., found a man who had attained the respectable age of 136 years.

☞ An Illinois paper states that the peach crop in the lower section of that State is so heavy that a district twenty miles long by five to seven miles wide, will this year yield not less than a million bushels. Some of them will be distilled.

☞ A party of roughs repaired to Norton's Grove, Cambridge, Mass., on Sunday, to witness a prize fight between two youths, 17 years of age, for $4.00 a side. It lasted for an hour and eight minutes, at the end of which time one of the lads had to be carried from the field.

☞ Pittsburgh, Pa., was visited on Monday evening by a shower of flies which filled the air like snow flakes for nearly an hour, to the infinite amusement of hundreds of children, who seemed to enjoy themselves hugely in chasing and capturing them.

☞ A young man belonging to a very respectable family, but a notorious rowdy, was arrested in Wheeling on Monday last, charged with riotous conduct. He was convicted on the clearest evidence, but the magistrate allowed him to go without punishment, giving as an excuse that he was under personal and pecuniary obligations to the accused.

☞ The number of very valuable horses at the Springfield exhibition would surprise a person unacquainted with the rapid improvement in price, if not in quality of the best of the animals, within a few years. Some twenty horses are mentioned, which are estimated at $50,000. One is $10,000, several at $5,000, and quite a number at from $2,000 to $4,000.

☞ The Paris Monde publishes a letter from the director of the department of the schools in the East showing that during the late outrages in Syria 28 schools were destroyed, 560 churches torn down, 42 convents burned, 360 villages and 9 religious establishments belonging to Europeans destroyed, and the harvest, produce and buildings all ruined, within 116,380 square kilometres of territory.

☞ Sharp Shooting.—According to the Memphis papers, Capt. Travis has made a remarkable proposition. He says he will wager two hundred and fifty dollars, that he can hit a mark without seeing it and that the mark shall be placed behind a tree, not less than six feet in circumference. He shall not see the target, but with his pistol will shoot around the tree, and out of twenty shots will hit the target fifteen times at least, making the ball go round the tree before striking the target.

☞ The Troy Times is authorized to contradict the statement that a match has been made between Heenan and Morrissey. "These parties have not met since the refusal of the latter to father a challenge which some inconsiderate friend had made for him; nor has Morrissey since changed the determination expressed then, not to enter the prize ring again, except under circumstances of great provocation." That is what the Times says. If provocation is all he is waiting for, it is very probable Heenan will not keep him long in suspense.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Toram's Furniture Warehouse.

This establishment is becoming one of the most attractive "Institutions" of the Quaker City, and the place where housekeepers "most do congregate." Mr. TORAM established himself at the corner of Ninth and Market Streets, in 1850, and by superintending the manufacture of every article himself his wares soon gained a reputation, and by liberal advertising and strict attention to business, he was soon forced to add room after room to his establishment, until his is now the most extensive establishment of the kind in Philadelphia, and being one of special interest to all housekeepers, we deem it worthy of this special notice. Mr. Toram is himself a master mechanic, a shrewd business man, and a gentleman. He superintends his own business and may be found at the establishment early and late. He is, in the strict sense of the word, a utilitarian, and the reader must not expect, should he visit his business place, to find a "showy" establishment, unless, indeed, a hive of industry and well stocked ware rooms of large dimensions but unpretending style may be considered showy. The place is an attractive one, however, and especially to young housekeepers commencing life and looking for home comforts. The varieties of style and gradation of prices are such as to enable one to purchase according to taste and with a certainty of purchasing at the lowest prices. Make a note of this, reader, and call at the establishment or send your order. Address STEPHEN TORAM, N. E. corner of 9th and Market streets, Philadelphia, and your furniture will be selected from a stock embracing everything from the best and most elaborate finish to the plainest and cheapest. All orders receive the personal attention of Mr. TORAM and his efforts to please are generally satisfactory.

CAIRO, Ill., July 29th, 1860.

MESSRS. JOHN WILCOX & CO.:—Your "Inpectine," or "Persian Fever Charm," has done wonders. I was wholly despondent and wretched when I applied it, and in five hours the chills were removed and no fever has ensued. It is the simplest cure imaginable, and a wonder of nature or art. I would not be without this "Inpectine" a single hour.—By constantly wearing I seem to be "ague proof."

Yours very truly, E. M. STOUT.

MOBILE, Alabama, July 23d, 1860.

GENTLEMEN:—I have been snatched from the grave by the application of your wonderful "Inpectine," or "Persian Fever Charm." For several years I have suffered every season from Fever and Ague. Last Spring my life was threatened, but your remedy has destroyed the disease and I am rapidly gaining an appetite and strength.

Respectfully yours, D. N. BARRON.

This truly wonderful preventive and cure for Fever and Ague and Bilious Fevers will be sent mail, post paid, on receipt of one dollar. Also for sale at all respectable Druggists and Country Stores.

Principal Depot and Manufactory, 188 Main St., Richmond, Va. Branch Office, Bank of Commerce Building, New York. Address JOHN WILCOX.

Dr. Bronson's Blood Food.

The demand for this unrivalled Preparation is beyond the possibility of a doubt, and its sale is becoming as large as that of any other article now before the public. Tens of thousands of persons who were sufferers are now seen daily walking the streets of all the principal cities of the Union, and by their influence spreading the fame of "Dr. BRONSON'S BLOOD FOOD" throughout the civilized world.—But the trial of one bottle is more than we can say in a whole newspaper column. It gives life, health and beauty to the sick, and restores, as if by magic, those who were supposed to be irrecoverably lost. We need only say, try it.

We would also call the attention of Mothers to Dr. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL. This is said to be superior to any article of the kind now known. If your anxious hearts are pained by witnessing the sufferings of your little ones, lose no time in procuring a bottle. It is an invaluable specific for infants teething, softening their gums, and allaying all fever and irritation. By all means get the Cordial; relieve the sufferings of your children, and enjoy unbroken your own repose. See advertisement.—Advertiser and Farmer, Bridgeport, Vt. For sale by A. Roush.

Weakness of the Stomach and Indigestion.

Another Great Cure effected by Barhave's Holland Bitters.

The wife of Pieter De Witte, living in Holland Town, Sheboygan county, Wisconsin, suffered much from Weakness of the Stomach and Indigestion. She had been under a physician's care for some time, but the disease seemed to baffle even his skill. She purchased some HOLLAND BITTERS at our office, which has given tone to her stomach; her appetite and strength are returning, and we firmly believe that this is another great cure effected by your medicine.

We have still to record many wonderful cures effected by this remedy, but must wait another opportunity. One thing you can rely upon, what we have published are from persons much respected in our community, and are literally true. J. QUINTUS,

IMPORTANT TO FEMALES.

DR. CHEESEMAN'S PILLS.

The combination of ingredients in these Pills are the result of a long and extensive practice. They are mild in their operation, and certain in correcting all irregularities Painful Menstruations, removing all obstructions, whether from cold or otherwise, headache, pain in the side, palpitation of the heart, whites, all nervous affections, hysterics, fatigue, pain in the back and limbs, &c., disturbed sleep, which arise from interruption of nature.

DR. CHEESEMAN'S PILLS

was the commencement of a new era in the treatment of those irregularities and obstructions which have consigned so many thousands of the young, the beautiful, and the beloved, to a premature grave. ☞ "OF WHAT THE SKIN OF an innocent sheep should be made into parchment, and written on to the undoing of a man!" quoth Shakspeare. He might also have deplored the ruining of men's forms by the uncouth manner in which some ungracious tailors butcher up the cloth made from the wool grown by these same harmless sheep. To see the perfection of the art of working up cloth wisely and well, and so as to set off to the best advantage the forms of its wearers, call at the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestnut St. above Sixth, Phila. and examine their stock of garments for gentlemen and youths.

LOCAL ITEMS.

"MINUTE MEN."—At a meeting held in the Constitutional Union Association Club Room, on Friday evening last, a club styled the "Minute Men of '60" was organized by the selection of the following officers:—

President—D. T. Caldwell.
Vice President—Joseph V. Carter.
Secretary—R. M. Messimer.
Assistant Secretary—John A. Ray.
Treasurer—W. T. Smith.
Captain—Maj. Henry Wayne.
1st Lieut.—Geo. Hawkesworth.
2d Lieut.—Riley O'Donnell.
Fioneers—Samuel Campbell, James Maxwell.

The "Minute Men" are made up of members of the Bell and Everett party, as the "Wide Awakes" are made up from the Lincoln party. The club met on Tuesday evening last to decide upon uniforms, &c. They will make their first appearance in the course of a week or ten days.

DELICIOUS FRUIT.—On Saturday evening last, our friend, H. B. White, left upon our table a basket of the finest peaches, both as regards size and quality, that we have ever seen, and, we think, surpasses anything of the kind raised in this section of the country. One of the peuches measured 9½ inches in circumference one way, and 10 inches the other. They were all so nearly one size that it was hard to tell which was the largest. This fruit was raised in Mr. W.'s lot, in East Altoona.

Can any of our citizens beat the above? If they can, we should be pleased to hear from them. Mr. W.'s fruit clearly shows that we can raise just as good fruit up here as they can about the cities, and all that is necessary to have it, is for our people to exercise a little more care in selecting their trees, and attend to them when they get them.

A TIMELY WORD OF CAUTION.—As the season for political meetings in the open air is at hand, we beg to caution all persons, except the most robust young people, from attending such gatherings without overcoats. The temperature of the air in the day and early evening is no criterion to judge what it will be by 8 or 9 o'clock. Hundreds of persons have taken agues and fevers, or laid the foundation for consumptions, by standing in the chilly, Autumn air at political gatherings. Let two things always be attended to—first, provide a board covering for your speakers stands, and second, take your overcoat with you. Those who enjoy the benefits of gratuitous speaking, should not expect the stumper to risk a cold or the rupture of their lungs by speaking without a sounding board.

O! CRACKEY!—Have you heard the news?—Well we suppose you have, for everybody knows that "Cheap John" has arrived in town and now holds forth nightly in Constable Ely's building, in East Altoona. "John" is a funny fellow, and makes everybody laugh who attends his sales. He sells goods a little cheaper than the cheapest, and his manner of doing it is rather novel. "John" is a character, and no mistake. He draws a crowd wherever he goes, and guarantees to every man the worth of his money. If you want to "laugh and grow fat" attend his evening sales. He says he has everything from a "cradle to a pig's horn." See his advertisement elsewhere.

CAUGHT AT LAST.—An old citizen of Cambria county, by the name of Fred. George, and two young men named Brindle, were arrested on Monday last and lodged in the jail of this county, on the charge of having, on Sunday last, stolen a heifer, the property of James Stevens, of Juniata township, in this county. They were seen shoot the heifer, and the beef and hide was found in their possession on Monday. They confessed their guilt. George is said to be an old offender in the way of taking other people's cattle which have been put in the mountains to pasture.

THEFT.—On Saturday last, while H. Fettinger and his clerks were busy serving out daily papers to customers, some person pocketed a box of two dozen medals containing the likenesses of the candidates of the different parties for President and Vice President. Doubtless the thief thought he was getting a box of gum drops, as they were in a box of that kind, but it may be that he knew what they were and wanted them to sell. Should any be offered for sale in this place or vicinity, the person to whom they are presented should inquire where they came from.

INSTRUCTION IN MUSIC.—Prof. Francis Henry is now ready to open his school for instruction in instrumental music. He teaches music upon any instrument—piano, violin, flute, guitar and brass instruments—will give instructions to brass bands. Prof. H. is one of the best musicians in the country, as well as one of the best teachers, and he understaands the art of imparting his knowledge to his pupils. His terms will be reasonable.

FIX UP YOUR HOMES.—W. P. Marshall, of Pittsburgh, advertises in to-days paper his price list of Wall Paper. He has all prices—all styles—and rates lower than any other establishment, and being the oldest in town, has advantages over all others. Give him a call.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.—On Thursday morning last, Mr. George Denning, a freight conductor on the Penn'a R. R., met with an accident which resulted in his death in less than 24 hours thereafter. According to information he was either thrown off or fell from the bumper of a car, near Thompsontown station, and falling upon the track the wheels of a car passed over his legs breaking one and badly mutilating the other, besides severely bruising his person internally and externally. He was taken to the residence of his father in Harrisburg, where he died at 12 o'clock the following night. From the Harrisburg Telegraph of Friday last we clip the following:—

"The deceased had for some time been betrothed to an estimable young lady of this city, Miss Gray, and both looked forward to a speedy and happy union. When it was ascertained that Mr. Denning could not possibly survive, at the mutual request of him and his betrothed, and with the consent of the parents of both, they were married, Rev. Mr. Carson performing the solemn and impressive ceremony by the bedside of the dying man. The bridegroom passed from the altar to the tomb, and the devoted bride of an hour changed her wedding garments for the habiliments of mourning. The bride of yesterday is the widow of to-day! In the midst of her grief, however, there is sweet consolation in the thought of a re-union with the loved one hereafter in a world "where partings are no more."

THE END OF SUMMER.—On Saturday last the reign of Summer ended, and we have now fairly entered upon the season of the "sere and yellow leaf," our delightful and unrivalled American Autumn. The harvest is passed—the Summer is ended—the morning songs of the wild feathered warblers have ceased—the leaves of variegated hue are already making their appearance on the forest trees—and soon the voice of the katy-did and the light of the glow-worm will usher in the Autumnal evenings. How short the time seems since Spring was with us, so swiftly do the seasons pass! The years of human life have very aptly been compared to the degrees of longitude, which shortens as we approach the poles. The ardent youth thinks the years of fearful length until he attains maturity—then they seem to shorten and decrease with every subsequent period of life's journey, until he exclaims, with Job, "My days are swifter than a weaver's shuttle." Autumn is the most delightful season, teeming with the fruition of the year—the harvests are gathered, the fruits are ripe, and plenty abounds. It infuses a soothing and tranquilizing influence over the mind, and disposes to contemplation and gratitude.

NEW PAPERS.—We have received the first copy of a new paper styled the People's Defender, just started in Huntingdon. It is well gotten up, and edited with ability. Our old friend, Bill Shaw, is the editor. The paper is gotten up for the purpose of defeating S. S. Wharton, for Senator, and B. X. Blair, for Legislature—the nominees of the People's Party—and this number pitches into those gentlemen rough-shod.

We have also before us a copy of a new triweekly paper, called the Union News, just started at Harrisburg, by W. D. Jack & Co. It runs up the Bell and Everett flag and gives them a hearty support. We doubt whether the institution will pay, although Jack has the energy to make it pay if it will.

PEOPLE'S PARTY MEETINGS.—Gen. John Williamson, of Huntingdon, will deliver an address before the People's Party Club of this place, on to-morrow (Friday) evening.

Hon. John Hickman, of Chester county, will address the citizens of Altoona, on the political issues of the present campaign, on Monday evening, 17th inst. Every person is invited to come out and hear these advocates of Free Labor and Protection to American Industry.

DEMOCRATIC CONGRESSIONAL CONFERENCE.—The Democratic Congressional Conference of this district met at Johnstown, on Monday last, and nominated Archibald M'Allister, of this county, as their candidate. We are not personally acquainted with the nominee, but learn that he is a very clever gentleman, popular where known, and a friend of protection to American Industry—being an iron master.

☞ We learn from the Hollidaysburg Register that four men, named John McCafferty, Isaac Laferty, Simon Barr and B. M. Morrow, were arrested and held to bail in the sum of $300 each for riotous conduct, in attacking the "Wide Awakes" with stones, while in attendance at the Peoples' Party meeting in that place, on Tuesday evening of last week.

For the Altoona Tribune.

The Slanderer.

Against Slander there is no defence—Hell cannot boast so foul a fiend nor man deplore so foul a foe. It stabs with a word—with a nod—with a shrug—with a look—with a smile. It is the pestilence walking in darkness, spreading contagions far and wide, which the weary traveller cannot avoid; it is the heart-searching dagger of the assassin; it is the mortal sting of the deadly adder: Murder—its employment; innocence—its prey; and ruin, its sport. The man who breaks into my dwelling or meets me on the public road, and robs me of my property, does me an injury, stops me on the way to wealth, strips me of my hard-earned savings, involves me in difficulty, and brings my family to penury and want. But he does me an injury which can be repaired. Industry and economy may again bring me into circumstances of ease and affluence, and the smiles of gratitude may yet play upon the cheeks of my offspring as they receive the small tokens of parental love. The man who comes at the midnight hour and fires my dwelling does me an injury; he burns my roof, my pillow, my raiment, my every shelter from the storm and the tempest. But he, too, does me an injury that can be repaired.—The storm may indeed beat upon me, but charity will receive me into her dwelling, will give me "food to eat and raiment to put on," will kindly assist me in raising a new roof over the ashes of the old, and taste the sweets of friendship and of home. But the man who circulates false reports concerning my character, who expresses every act of my life which can be represented to my disadvantage—who goes first to this, then to that neighbor, tells them he is very tender of my reputation, enjoins the strictest secrecy, and then fills their ears with hearsays and rumors, and what is worse, leaves them to dwell upon his hints and suggestions of their own busy imagination. The man who in this way filches from me my good name does me an injury which neither industry or charity or time itself can repair. He has told his tale of slander to an uncharitable world. Some receive it as truth, whilst others suspect the half was not told them: and others dress what they have in the highest coloring, add to it the foul calumny of their own invention, and proclaim it at the corners of the streets and upon the house-tops. Should I prove myself innocent, and attempt to meet the scandal by contradiction, the story of my disgrace outstrips me or my solicitude to contradict it excites suspicion of guilt. Should the slanderer confess his crime the blot is made and the tears of repentance cannot wash it out. I might as well recall the winds or quench the stars as recall this foul-tale of infamy or wipe this stain from my character. I attach a high value to the esteem and confidence of my fellow men. I cannot but wish, while I live among them, I may hold a place in their affections, and be treated with the respect which is due my station. A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches or than precious ointment.—This, the immediate jewel of the soul, the purest treasure mortal ties afford. Give me this and I can face the frowns of fortune—can be pointed at as the child of poverty, and still know what it is to be happy. Take this away and you strike a dagger to my soul, you render life itself a burden. The frowns of the world, the finger of scorn, and the hiss of contempt are more than mortal man can endure. Yet, dear as reputation is, and, in my soul's just estimation, prized above all prizes, it is not too dear, it is not too sacred for the slanderer to tarnish and destroy. He can take from me the confider of employment, the respect of my friends—can blast my reputation with his pestilential breath, and feel not a pang of remorse; he glories in nothing so much as the slaughter of character; he would blight the fairest flowers in the garden of innocence, demolish the loftiest temples of human purity, and place his broad stamp of infamy on the holiest servants of the living God. The slanderer has not a single pretext or excuse to palliate his offence. A desire of gain may urge some to the commission of crime. The incendiary and assassin may be excited by their base passions to perpetrate their deeds of darkness and death. But the man that attacks me with slander has no hope of personal good; and if he robs me of my character, he robs me of that which enriches him not and makes me poor indeed. For every idle word that a man shall speak he shall give an account thereof at the judgment seat of Christ. May you and I, dear reader, be saved from the sentence which awaits that man whose tongue is the tongue of a slanderer. *.

NOTICE.

According to previous announcement through the Tribune, I have now adopted the CASH System in my Business. This will be strictly adhered to for the future. I hope that none of my heretofore good credit customers will feel themselves aggrieved or inconvenienced by this plan, but that they will favor me with a continuance of their patronage. I shall at all times consider it a privilege to accommodate all with whatever they may want in my line; any Book or Paper not on hand will be ordered at short notice.

N. B. All persons indebted to me will please call at my store and settle previous to the 20th inst. All claims unsettled after that date will be given in the hands of the proper officer for collection.

MOFFAT'S
LIFE PILLS and PHŒNIX BITTERS.
THESE MEDICINES HAVE NOW been before the public for a period of thirty years, and during that time have maintained a high character in almost every part of the globe, for their extraordinary and immediate power of restoring perfect health to persons suffering under nearly every kind of disease to which the human frame is liable.

The following are among the distressing variety of human diseases in which the
are well known to be infallible.

DYSPEPSIA, by thoroughly cleansing the first and second stomachs, and creating a flow of pure, healthy bile, instead of the stale and acrid kind; FLATULENCY, Loss of Appetite, Heartburn, Headache, Restlessness, Ill-Temper, Anxiety, Langour, and Melancholy, which are the general symptoms of Dyspepsia, will vanish, as a natural consequence of its cure.

COSTIVENESS, by cleansing the whole length of the intestines with a solvent process, and without violence; all violent purges leave the bowels costive within two days.

FEVERS of all kinds, by restoring the blood to a regular circulation, through the process of respiration in such cases, and the thorough solution of all intestinal obstruction in others.

The Life Medicines have been known to cure RHEUMATISM permanently in three weeks, and GOUT in half that time, by removing local inflammation from the muscles and ligaments of the joints.

DROPSIES of all kinds, by freeing and strengthening the kidneys and bladder; they operate most delightfully on these important organs, and hence have ever been found a certain remedy for the worst cases of GRAVEL.

Also WORMS, by dislodging from the turnings of the bowels the slimy matter to which these creatures adhere.

SCURVY, ULCERS, and INVETERATE SORES, by the perfect purity which these LIFE MEDICINES give to the blood, and all the humors.

SCORBUTIC ERUPTIONS and BAD COMPLEXIONS, by their alterative effect upon the fluids that feed the skin, and the morbid state of which occasions all eruptive complaints, sallow, cloudy, and other disagreeable complexions.

The use of these Pills for a very short time will effect an entire cure of SALT RHEUM, and a striking improvement in the clearness of the skin. COMMON COLDS and INFLUENZA will always be cured by one dose, or by two in the worst cases.

PILES.—The original proprietor of these medicines, was cured of Piles, of 35 years standing, by the use of the Life Medicines alone.

FEVER & AGUE.—For this scourge of the Western country, these medicines will be found a safe, speedy and certain remedy. Other medicines leave the system subject to a return of the disease—a cure by these medicines is permanent—try them, be satisfied, and be cured.

BILLIOUS FEVERS and LIVER COMPLAINTS.—General debility, loss of appetite and diseases of females—the medicines have been used with the most beneficial results in cases of this description:—Kings Evil and Scrofula, in its worst forms, yields to the mild yet powerful action of these remarkable Medicines. Night Sweats, Nervous Debility, Nervous Complaints of all kinds, Palpitation of the Heart, Painters' Colic, are specially cured.

MERCURIAL DISEASES.—Persons whose constitutions have become impaired by the injudicious use of Mercury, will find these medicines a perfect cure, as they never fail to eradicate from the system, all the effects of Mercury, infinitely sooner than the most powerful preparation of Sarsaparilla.

UDOLPHO WOLFE'S
AROMATIC
SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS
A SUPERLATIVE
TONIC, DIURETIC,
ANTI DYSPEPTIC
AND
INVIGORATING CORDIAL
TO THE CITIZENS OF NEW JERSEY AND PENNSYLVANIA,
APOTHECARIES, DRUGGISTS, GROCERS AND PRIVATE FAMILIES.

WOLFE'S Pure Cognac Brandy.
WOLFE'S Pure Madeira, Sherry and Port Wine.
WOLFE'S Pure Jamaica and St. Croix Rum.
WOLFE'S Pure Scotch and Irish Whisky.
ALL IN BOTTLES.

I beg leave to call the attention of the citizens of the United States to the above Wines and Liquors, imported by UDOLPHO WOLFE, of New York, whose name is familiar in every part of this country for the purity of his celebrated SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS. Mr. Wolfe, in his letter to me, speaking of the purity of his Wines and Liquors, says: "I will stake my reputation as a man, my standing as a merchant of thirty years' residence in the city of New York, that all the Brandy and Wines which I bottle are pure as imported, and of the best quality, and can be relied upon by every purchaser." Every bottle has the proprietor's name on the wax, and a fac simile of his signature of the certificate.—The public are respectfully invited to call and examine for themselves. For sale at Retail by all Apothecaries and Grocers in Philadelphia.

GEORGE H. ASHTON, No. 832 Market St., Phila.
Sole Agent for Philadelphia.

Read the following from the New York Courier:

ENORMOUS BUSINESS FOR ONE NEW YORK MERCHANT.—We are happy to inform our fellow-citizens that there is one place in our city where the physician, apothecary, and country merchant, can go and purchase pure Wines and Liquors, as pure as imported, and of the best quality. We do not intend to give an elaborate description of this merchant's extensive business, although it will well repay any stranger or citizen to visit Udolpho Wolfe's extensive warehouse, Nos. 18, 20 and 22, Beaver street, and Nos. 17, 19 and 21, Marketfield street. His stock of Schnapps on hand ready for shipment could not have been less than thirty thousand cases; the Brandy, some ten thousand cases—Vintages of 1836 to 1856; and ten thousand cases of Madeira, Sherry and Port Wine, Scotch and Irish Whiskey, Jamaica and St. Croix Rum, some very old and equal to any in this country. He also had three large cellars, filled with Brandy, Wine, &c., in casks, under Custom-House key, ready for bottling. Mr. Wolfe's sales of Schnapps last year amounted to one hundred and eighty thousand dozen, and we hope in less than two years he may be equally successful with his Brandies and Wines.

His business merits the patronage of every lover of his species. Private families who wish pure Wines and Liquors for medical use should send their orders direct to Mr. Wolfe, until every Apothecary in the land make up their minds to discard the poisonous stuff from their shelves, and replace it with Wolfe's pure Wines and Liquors.

We understand that Mr. Wolfe, for the accommodation of small dealers in the country, puts up assorted cases of Wines and Liquors. Such a man, and such a merchant, should be sustained against his tens of thousands of opponents in the United States, who sell nothing but imitations, ruinous alike to human health and happiness.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW, AN EXPERIENCED NURSE AND FEMALE PHYSICIAN, presents to the attention of mothers her
SOOTHING SYRUP,
FOR CHILDREN TEETHING.

which greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums reducing all inflammation will allay pain and spasmodic action, and is sure to regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and Relief and Health to your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for over ten years, and can say, in confidence and truth of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—never has it failed, in a single instance, to effect a cure, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "what we do know," after ten years' experience, and pledge our reputation for the fulfilment of what we here declare. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation is the prescription of one of the most experienced and skillful nurses in New England, and has been used with never-failing success in thousands of cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic, and overcome convulsions, which, if not speedily remedied, end in death. We believe it the best and surest remedy in the world, in all cases of Dysentery and Diarrhœa in children, whether it arises from teething or from any other cause.—We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be sure—yes, absolutely sure—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

Sold by Druggists throughout the world, and by G. W. Kessler and A. Roush, druggists, Altoona. Price 25 cents per bottle.

PROF. L. MILLER'S HAIR INVIGORATOR!!
AN EFFECTIVE, SAFE AND ECONOMICAL COMPOUND,
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR to its original color without dyeing, and preventing the hair from turning gray,
FOR PREVENTING BALDNESS, and curing it, when there is the least particle of vitality or recuperative energy remaining,
FOR REMOVING SCURF AND DANDRUFF, and all cutaneous affections at the Scalp,
FOR BEAUTIFYING THE HAIR, imparting to it an unequalled gloss and brilliancy, making it soft and silky in its texture and causing it to curl readily.

The great celebrity and the increasing demand for this unequalled preparation, convince the proprietor that one trial is only necessary to satisfy a discerning public of its superior qualities over any other preparation at present in use. It cleanses the head and scalp from dandruff and other cutaneous diseases, causes the hair to grow luxuriently, and gives it a rich, soft, glossy flexible appearance, and also where the hair is loosening and thining, it will give strength and vigor to the roots, and restore the growth to those parts which have become bald, causing it to yield a fresh covering of hair.

There are hundreds of ladies and gentlemen in New York who have had their hair restored by the use of this Invigorator, when all other preparations had failed. L. M. has in his possession letters innumerable testifying to the above facts, from persons of the highest respectability. It will effectually prevent the hair from turning gray until the latest period of life; and in cases where the hair has already changed its color, the use of the Invigorator will with certainty restore it to its original hue, giving it a dark, glossy appearance. As a perfume for the toilet and a Hair Restorative it is particularly recommended, having an agreeable fragrance; and the great facilities it affords in dressing the hair, which, when moist with the Invigorator can be dressed in any required form so as to preserve its place, whether plain or in curls—hence the great demand for it by the ladies as a standard toilet article which none ought to be without, as the price places it within the reach of all, being.

ONLY 25 CENTS
per bottle, to be had at all respectable druggists and perfumers.

L. MILLER would call the attention of Parents and Guardians to the use of the Invigorator, in cases where the childrens' Hair inclines to be weak. The use of it lays the foundation for a good head of hair, as it removes any impurities that may have become connected with the scalp, the removal of which is necessary both for the health of the child, and the future appearance of its Hair.

CAUTION.—None genuine without the fac simile LOUIS MILLER being on the outer wrapper; also, L. MILLER'S HAIR INVIGORATOR, N. Y. blown in the glass.

Wholesale Depot, 56 Dey St., and sold by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the world.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity.

I also desire to present to the American Public my
New and Improved Instantaneous
LIQUID HAIR DYE
which after years of scientific experimenting I have brought to perfection. It dyes Black or Brown instantly without injury to the Hair or Skin, warranted the best article of the kind in existence.

RED LION HOTEL,

ALTOONA, BLAIR COUNTY, PA.

This old established and popular HOTEL, located nearly opposite the place of stopping the passenger cars in Altoona, has passed into the hands of the present proprietor.—Long experience in the business warrants me in assuring the travelling public that no pains will be spared to render guests as comfortable as possible while sojourning under my roof.

The TABLE will constantly be supplied with the very best the market affords.

The BAR will be found to contain an excellent assortment of LIQUORS of all kinds, including that choice beverage LAGER BEER.

The STABLE is in charge of an excellent and experienced Ostler.

The proprietor hopes, by his long experience in the busines and the facilities at his command, to make the Red Lion, in all respects, a first class Hotel. The business of the Hotel will be under my own personal supervision. A liberal share of public patronage is kindly solicited.

CONSUMPTION AND ASTHMA CURED.

DR. H. JAMES,

Discovered, while in the West Indies, a certain cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, and General Debility. This remedy was discovered by him when his only child, a daughter, was given up to die. His child was cured, and is now alive and well. Desirous of benefiting his fellow mortals, he will send to those who wish it, the recipe containing full directions for making and successfully using this remedy, free, on receipt of their names with stamp for return postage. When received, take it to G. W. Kessler, Druggist, Altoona. There is not a single symptom of Consumption which it does not at once take hold of and dissipate. Night sweats, peevishness, irritation of the nerves, failure of memory, difficult expectoration, sharp pains in the lungs, sore throat, chilly sensations, nausea at the stomach, inaction of the bowels, wasting away of the muscles. JACOB SNYDER, TAILOR,

The Hero of One Hundred Fits per Month!

I would respectfully set forth my claim to public attention, as a Fashionable Tailor, as follows:

Because I keep an excellent assortment of Cloths, Cassimeres, Vestings and Trimmings, which, when examined, always please.

Because my work is made up in a manner that takes down the country and gives all my customers a city appearance.

Because I am not inferior as a Cutter to the best to be found anywhere.

Because long experience in my business gives me entire control over it, and I am not dependant upon any one to lift me out of the suds.

Because I am still on the sunny side of forty, and therefore my taste as a Cutter and workman unimpaired.

Call on me, in the corner room of the "Brant House." Give me a trial and you will go away pleased.

DR MOTT'S CHALYBEATE RESTORATIVE PILLS OF IRON.

An aperient and stomachic preparation of Iron purified of Oxygen and Carbon by combustion in Hydrogen. Sanctioned by the highest Medical Authorities, both in Europe and the United States, and prescribed in their practice.

The experience of thousands daily proves that no preparation of Iron can be compared with it. Impurities of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and otherwise sickly complexions indicate its necessity in almost every conceivable case.

In Debility, Nervous Affections, Emaciation, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Incipient Consumption, Scrofulous Tuberculosis, Salt Rheum, Miscarriages, Whites, Chlorosis, Liver Complaints, Chronic Headaches, Rheumatism, Intermittent Fevers, Pimples on the Face, &c.

In cases of General Debility, whether the result of acute disease, or of the continued diminution of nervous and muscular energy from chronic complaints, one trial of this restorative has proved successful to an extent which no description nor written attestation would render credible.—Invalids so long bed-ridden as to have become forgotten in their own neighborhoods, have suddenly reappeared in the busy world as if just returned from a protracted travel in a distant land. Some
